Welcome to November! This issue features three member businesses, lots of Chamber updates, and of course holiday announcements.

Staff and customers are family at O'Blarney's in Centralia

By Emily Fitzgerald

For the Chamber of Commerce

O'Blarney's at the Gibson House has enough regulars that managing partner Jeff Malloy estimates staff can take about half of their customers' orders without them saying anything: the customer just sits down and a server who knows them by name brings their order.

"I think that a lot of them appreciate that friendship that we've gained and grown with them," Malloy said.

With a plethora of options on the menu for all taste buds and a wide variety of beverages on tap, O'Blarney's customers range from families celebrating birthdays, to friends gathering to watch a ball game, to couples going on a date, to workers getting a drink after a long day, and more.

"We've got a little something for everybody, whether it be on the menu or just in the atmosphere that we tried to provide for them," Malloy said.

Maintaining that friendly atmosphere starts with a tight-knit group of employees, many of whom have recently had their 10 year anniversaries with the business.

"It's the employees who keep these customers coming, and you just can't thank them enough for being here and doing the work on a day-in and day-out basis," he said. "We've been so lucky in finding these people that have wrapped their arms around this business and made it their own."

Some staff members are even volunteering to open O'Blarney's on Thanksgiving Day, which they normally get off, so they can have customers in for the Seahawks vs. 49ers game.

"We're not making anybody work — it's volunteer," Malloy said. "Some of the staff, they wanted to do it for our customers."

The Gibson House in Centralia is O'Blarney's second location, with founders John and Eileen Heelan opening the pub's first location in Olympia in 1985.

Malloy started as a part-time employee in the kitchen of the Olympia location in 1991 and worked his way up to partner at that location before moving to the Centralia location when it opened in 2011.

O'Blarney's management signed the lease for the Gibson House in September 2011 and opened its doors the week of the popular Lighted Tractor Parade three months later.

"That was our first Saturday, which was quite an introduction," Malloy said.

Malloy and his business partner, Mike Heelan, work hard to uphold the standard of excellence John Heelan set at the Olympia location.

"The way he could be around any group of people and just tell a story, and ... the joy and the laughter that he could provide for people, he embodies O'Blarney's. Anybody that's ever met him would say the same thing," Malloy said.

O'Blarney's at the Gibson House is located at 221 N. Tower Ave. in Centralia.

Operating hours are 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday and Sunday. For more information, visit <https://www.oblarneypub.com/>. Upcoming events will be posted on the business' Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/OblarneysCentralia>.

Short Session, Big Issues Ahead

By Peter Abbarno

20th District Rep. R-Centralia

Although legislators work all year long serving on committees, developing policies with staff, and drafting legislation, the official 2024 legislative session begins

January 8, 2024 and lasts for 60-days. During the 'short session', many important issues will be considered, including the cost of gas, rise in crime, K-12 education, and much more. Because this is a condensed session, policy moves fast; I encourage you community to stay connected with your legislators and share your thoughts and opinions.

Last year, the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce hosted monthly morning Zoom meetings with Senator John Braun, Representative Ed Orcutt, and myself. The meetings, beginning again in December, are great ways for you to meet with us and share your opinion, ask questions, and engage your 20th Legislative District legislators. Be sure to contact the Chamber at www.Chamberway.com to receive the dates and links for the meetings.

In addition to making myself available to the community in-person and virtually, surveys are a great ways to get feedback and learn more about what issues most important to you, your family, and your business. In September, I sent out the Fall 2023 legislative survey- which is still available at www.RepresentativePeterAbbarno.com. As of late October, almost 300 constituents have responded to the survey and shared their stories.

So far. . .

Over 75% of constituents disapprove of the Climate Commitment Act (CCA) that created a cap & trade program resulting in increased gas costs.

Over 80% of constituents believe taxes in the State of Washington are too high.

The top-three tax relief solutions chosen by constituents were reducing or eliminating the gas tax, reducing property taxes, and expanding the working families tax credit.

I asked you what issues should be the first addressed by the Legislature in 2024 with constituents choosing tax relief, other issues, and a tie between addressing homelessness and creating safer communities.

The survey results reflect what we are all seeing at our kitchen tables. The second-highest cost of gas in the nation, and largest gas cost increase, have a regressive impact beyond just the pump. The increased cost of food, utilities, goods, and services are negatively impacting all of us; especially those households that can least afford the increased costs.

If you are interested in sharing your opinion, visit my legislative website at www.RepresentativePeterAbbarno.com to find the survey on my legislative website. Your opinion and stories matter to me and I want to hear from you.

It is an honor to represent the 20th Legislative District from Rainier in Thurston County through Ridgefield in Clark County, and all my friends in Lewis County with the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce. Please consider visiting www.RepresentativePeterAbbarno.com to learn more about the legislative process, share your opinions, and sign up for my E-mail updates.

Rep. Peter Abbarno represents the 20th Legislative District and is an attorney with Althausen Rayan Abbarno, LLP.

Chehalis Outfitters is the area's largest supplier of workwear brand Carhartt in the Lewis County area.

Chehalis Outfitters celebrates successful first two years of business, continued growth

By Emily Fitzgerald

For the Chamber of Commerce

Voted Best of Lewis County in two categories this year, Chehalis Outfitters is preparing to end 2023 on a high note and continue excelling into 2024.

The business opened when the owners of Shelton Outfitters purchased Sunbird Shopping Center in Chehalis in 2021.

"It's been a real nice transition. We've kept a lot of the same Sunbird values, which is important," said store manager Kelli Erb.

While Chehalis Outfitters carries some of the same products as nearby big box stores Walmart and Home Depot, Chehalis Outfitters sets itself apart by offering exceptional customer service, Erb said.

"We want to help you solve any problems you may have, or give you suggestions. Customer service is something that we're really focusing on," she said.

Chehalis Outfitters started selling firearms in September, much to the excitement of former Sunbirds customers.

The reason Chehalis Outfitters closed Sunbird's gun selection in 2021 was because the federal firearms license didn't transfer with the sale, requiring Chehalis Outfitters to apply for a new license, according to Erb. "It's nice to have that back," she said.

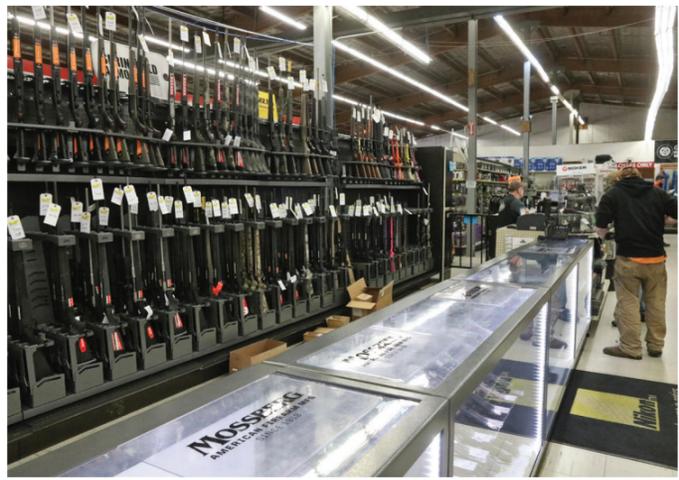

Chehalis Outfitters currently carries a large variety of firearms in stock and can also handle special orders and transfers.

In addition to firearms, Chehalis Outfitters is the largest supplier of workwear brands Carhartt and Georgia in the area, according to Erb.

"We're a big workwear community, you know, and that is some of our bread and butter," she said.

The store also sells a variety of power tools in addition to home and garden goods and a growing toy section.

Chehalis Outfitters is located at 1757 N. National

Ave. in Chehalis and is open 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Calypso Window Washing LLC lights up Southwest Washington for the holidays

By Emily Fitzgerald

For the Chamber of Commerce

If you're driving through the Twin Cities and admiring an immaculate holiday light display, there's a solid chance the decorations were arranged by Calypso Window Washing LLC.

Based in Centralia, Calypso offers window cleaning and power washing services in addition to leasing Christmas and holiday lights.

"What they're buying is their house decorated for Christmas, so it goes up, it comes down, and we do maintenance on it all season," Calypso owner Cameron McGee said.

Calypso had about 300 holiday light clients last year. McGee estimates that number will increase to about 350 clients this year.

Clients this year include the Centralia Downtown Festival Association, which hired Calypso to decorate the trees at Central Park in downtown Centralia; and the City of Seabrook, Washington, which hired Calypso to decorate its downtown.

For holiday lights, Calypso is typically booked up through November with return clients and hangs lights for new clients the first two weeks in December, McGee said.

"We hang until Dec. 17, that's our cutoff date, and then we give our crew two weeks off so that way they can spend the holidays with their family," McGee said.

Calypso does offer lighting services year-round for other holidays, one-day events, and more.

McGee opened Calypso 14 years ago as just a window washing service, adding landscaping and housekeeping to the business' offerings about 12 years ago and adding power washing and holiday light decoration services about

Calypso's lights come in large spools of wire that are custom cut to fit each house. "That's how we make our lines so perfect," Calypso stated in a Facebook post.

10 years ago. At that point, McGee said, Calypso was getting too busy, so he decided to step out of the housekeeping and landscaping side of the business.

For more information on Calypso's services or to get an estimate, visit calypsowindows.com, email calypsowindows@gmail.com or call 360-269-4947.

Lewis County and the Cities of Centralia and Chehalis have generously supported the vision and activities of ARTrails over the last 21 years. We thank them, as well as other communities over Lewis County, for their support of the arts. We look forward to our continuing and evolving relationships.

We also thank the many volunteers and businesses who have contributed to our annual events and our success over the past years. Their ongoing support has been a major factor in our success.

Rainier Eye – Diabetic Eye Exams

Do you have diabetes? Is your medical doctor asking you to get your eyes checked? Do you wonder why?

Uncontrolled diabetes causes the walls of blood vessels to weaken, resulting in blockages, leaks and new leaky blood vessels- called diabetic retinopathy. Diabetic retinopathy is the leading cause of preventable blindness in the United States. With a dilated eye exam and retinal imaging, Drs. Mary Ferris and Angela Loeb can see your blood vessels at work. The eye is the one place in the body where connective, vascular, and neurological tissue can be seen in a noninvasive way. The sooner retinopathy is found, the better your chances are of maintaining vision.

The Rainier Eye doctors send a report about your eye health to your medical doctor (PCP, endocrinologist, or internist) and they use this information to tailor your diabetes treatment plan- providing useful feedback for your whole care team. One thing many people don't know is that diabetic exams fall under medical insurance coverage, not vision insurance.

Rainier Eye is welcoming new patients for diabetic health exams as well as annual vision exams. Schedule online at www.RainierEye.com or call 360-506-5544.

We look forward to seeing you!
