MARCH 2024

Centralia - Chehalis Chamber of Commerce

Promote ♦ Protect ♦ Inform

Inside This Edition: March features four venues showcasing the wide variety of event facilities operated by our Members. There are more member venues available in our directory!

Lucky Eagle Casino and Hotel Venues, Catering, Hotel, and Entertainment

There are few places that offer as much in one location as Lucky Eagle Casino and Hotel does. They operate a wide assortment of venues and are known for excellent catering services and well-appointed hotel rooms and suites.

Lucky Eagle is owned and operated by the Chehalis Tribe. They opened in June 1995 and will be celebrating their thirty-year anniversary in 2025. The hotel and casino employ about 500 people and recently earned Best of South Sound and Best of Lewis County for 2023.

Lucky Eagle has been a great supporter of Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce as a Platinum Sponsor and providing in-kind donations for its fundraisers and annual Chamber luncheon. Beyond that, Lucky Eagle demonstrates its commitment to the community by supporting many activities and Chambers throughout the region. Currently, they hold memberships to twelve Chambers including Thurston, Tacoma, Yelm, and Tenino. Rodney Youckton, Chief Community Relations Officer, has personal relationships with many of these chambers and noted that Lucky Eagle has often hosted forums and business after hours events.

Lucky Eagle can accommodate intimate groups of 15 to banquets seating 250, or concerts that can seat 700. In addition to multiple spaces, Lucky Eagle also offers in-house catering services. “We even have our own pastry chef,” noted CEO JaNessa Bumgarner. For weddings, this makes Lucky Eagle a one-stop location that can meet the needs of any couple from rehearsal dinners to the wedding cake, vows to dance hall, and bridal suite to overnight rooms. In addition, Lucky Eagle is a highly rated casino giving guests many entertainment options.

Bumgarner and Youckton recently led Chamber staff on a private tour of their facility.

The tour began inside the Event Center, which holds up to 700 theatre-style and up to 250 with banquet style rounds. The room offers great flexibility for hosting concerts and other public events or more formal dinners, weddings, or seminars. There is a stage, sound, and light system.

Youckton noted the popularity of their newest space: The Legends Sports Bar that opened last July. The capacity is 55 and features a self-service beer tap offering up to 15 different beers including popular brands. “Legends was a popular spot for fantasy leagues this year,” added Bumgarner.

Nearby is the Steak House – which can host up to 60 guests and is great for cocktails and small buffets or as an overflow room for Legends Sports Bar.

The Sky Room at Lucky Eagle is located at the top level of the hotel and has its own dining area and restrooms. This is a wonderful option for private parties, board meetings, or training events of 15 – 30.

While larger groups and events should plan a year ahead for booking, the smaller event spaces should book at least six months out. However, Bumgarner encourages anyone planning an event to call, even on shorter notice. “We may be able to work someone in based on their needs or unexpected cancellations.”

Some lesser-discussed Bills

By Peter Abbarno

20th District Rep. R-Centralia

As the Washington State Legislature enters the final week of February, I wanted to write about some bills you may not have heard about, but could have a huge, statewide impact. Most of us know about all six initiatives to the Legislature and the three major fiscal budgets. Beyond the more notable bills, legislators draft, read, and consider thousands of bills and amendments from both chambers – many of which you have never heard about. I thought I should mention a few of those good and bad little bills.

Let me start with one of my own good bills. House Bill 1005 would have re-established an expired program that provides employers a Business and Occupation Tax credit and Public Utility Tax Credit for hiring veterans, members of the military and national guard, as well as their family members.

Peter Abbarno

This successful program expired in 2023 and the policy to re-establish and expand the program is in the House Rules Committee.

Another good bill would have allowed a 16 or 17-year-old to work the same number and frequency of hours during the school year as would be permitted during school vacations or holidays. Students would need to be enrolled in a career and technical education program and the work would need to be performed for an employer approved by the program. House Bill 2035 received a hearing, but was not voted out of the House Labor and Workforce Standards Committee.

It does not look like either of these two good policies will move in 2024; however, if passed they could have had a very positive impact on employers and employees in our community.

On the flip side, there are a couple of bad bills that thankfully did not advance. Two bills that come to mind that would likely have made crime worse and our judicial system more uncertain were House bills 1396 and 1268.

A bad bill that you may not have heard about is House Bill 1396, which would have reduced the mandatory sentences for individuals between the age of 18 to 20 who commit aggravated murder in the first degree and required retroactive resentencing for certain individuals. This bill does not appear to be moving forward this year.

Similar to House Bill 1396 is another very bad bill that would reduce the sentences for individuals that commit gun, gang, and drug related crimes around protected zones. House Bill 1268 would have allowed criminals to serve concurrent rather than consecutive sentences. The bill would have also eliminated enhancements for teenagers who commit gang-related felony crimes. This bill is likely not moving forward this year but will likely be introduced again.

There are a lot of bills considered in the Legislature that can have a huge impact our way of life. I am very thankful for the active participation of many neighbors in the 20th Legislative District, including those in the Centralia and Chehalis, who share their opinions on policies- big and small. I appreciate the comments and insight during session and all-year-long and encourage you to reach out to my office. Owl and Olive - Country Venue

For those looking for a country setting and classic barn, Owl and Olive offers the simplicity and beauty of a farm venue. Owl and Olive is set against the backdrop of the Willapa Hills and hugs the bank of the upper Chehalis River. The Willapa Hills Trail, which extends 56 miles from Chehalis to South Bend, also runs alongside the farm. While Owl and Olive has become a popular location for weddings, the outdoor spaces combined with the barn and the more intimate café setting create a unique venue that can serve a variety of events. Owners Stephen and Amy Hueffed have hosted corporate events, art shows, equestrian events, marathons, and in recent years the well-known Ride the Willapa cycling event while the highway 6 overpass was constructed. The opportunities are boundless with its location and proximity to the trail, river, and nearby towns of Olympia (45 minutes away) and Chehalis/Centralia (about thirty minutes away).

Wedding packages are designed to be all inclusive of use of the property, tables, chairs -- and for those doing two-day events -- use of their linens and other banquet equipment. Each package offers generous hourly use (up to fifteen hours) and there are no restrictions regarding the choice of caterers.

The Owl and Olive had a popular café for a time. While the café is no longer in operation, the café space is available as a second indoor gathering space that can accommodate small groups in an intimate setting.

The barn can seat over 150 guests banquet style and there are many opportunities for configuration of a ceremony, formal sit-down dinner, and lounge.

There are three primary outdoor spaces including a garden area, a tree-lined lower field that offers as much room and square footage as the barn, and a lower riverfront outdoor space.

In addition, there is a field that offers room for larger events that may want space for vendor tents, animal pens, or dry camping. In recent years the Hueffeds installed a nearby stylish outdoor restroom to accommodate events of all sizes.

Visit owlolive.net to learn more about this unique venue.

Riverside Golf Club and Bistro Ace in the Hole for Events & Tournaments

Riverside Golf Club offers more than eighteen holes and 6155 yards of golf. They are also a year-round venue for events with six spaces available. Their rentals have been used for retirement parties, showers, holiday events, class reunions, memorial services, and along with their golf course for tournaments and fundraising events.

Their main building can be split into several different spaces and includes the entire lower floor that can be split in two halves serving either multiple parties or used for different functions of a singular event. For smaller parties there is a fireplace dining area that can also be partitioned from other activities taking place. Their Rooftop Bar is not only a popular bistro but can also be rented for special events and has an outdoor dining experience. As a special bonus, Catering Manager and bartender Ericka Pogue was recently honored as the 2023 Best Bartender in Lewis County, and is an example of the experienced staff at Riverside.

The Pavilion, which is an outdoor rental facility adjacent to the course, is active during high season for fundraisers, private parties, and corporate events. Riverside takes pride in organizing golf tournaments for clients. There are currently 20 tournaments booked for 2024, but they have room for more. Tournaments can be designed for as few as 24 players up to 160 full tournaments. "If you can dream it up we can make it happen," said General Manager Trent

Ericka Pogue voted Best Bartender 2023.

Henning. This creative approach extends to their catering and bar services as well. "We have a talented staff who will invent themed mix drinks and Chef Valentine Quintana can customize a menu to fit your needs." Riverside also has a professional mobile bar and kegerator for offsite catering needs.

Henning takes special pride in how well they treat sponsors during tournaments and provide preferred services. These include cart staging, bag drops, preferred score cards, and more. "We tend to set ourselves apart because we take care of sponsors throughout the day from start to finish," added Henning. Anyone organizing a fundraiser understands the important role sponsors play in their success and will appreciate the special attention Riverside gives them.

High season is typically mid-May through mid-September, so those wanting to secure a tournament date or use of the Pavilion should book now for 2025. However, that advice shouldn't prevent potential organizers from contacting Riverside as openings do become available or they may be able to creatively accommodate specific event needs.

Computer Glasses

What ARE computer glasses? Can't you use any glasses on your computer? Depending upon your age, this could be a trick question. Once we reach our late 40s, our natural range of focus moves further towards our arms' length- and beyond. During this time, reading glasses, bifocals, and progressive lenses become valuable to restore crisp vision within arms' reach. But, if you've ever worn a bifocal or progressive at a computer, you know it can turn into a pain in the neck! Computer glasses provide clear vision across the lens so that you can stop tipping your chin up, leaning in, and getting a stiff neck. Our doctors prescribe a lens design based upon the distance to your screen(s), how mobile you are at work, and your eyes' natural range of focus. To decrease the harsh illumination that causes strain, tired eyes, and difficulty sleeping, lenses can be made with blue-blocking non-glare treatment. Stop straining your eyes and neck at work and schedule your annual eye exam at Rainier Eye today!

Join Health and Hope!

The Health and Hope Free Medical Clinic in Centralia stands as a source of compassion and healing for the uninsured residents of Lewis County. Open every Tuesday evening from 5:30 pm to 8:00 pm, this clinic is a lifeline for those who may otherwise go without essential medical care.

In a community where healthcare access is often a challenge for the uninsured, the Health and Hope Free Medical Clinic plays a pivotal role in promoting health equity and fostering a sense of hope for those who rely on its services. One of our greatest needs, aside from continued funding, is Board members. Our board plays a pivotal role in shaping the strategic direction of our organization, ensuring financial stability, and providing oversight to our programs and initiatives. We are specifically looking for individuals passionate about serving the community to contribute to our collective success.

Here are a few reasons why joining our Board of Directors could be a transformative and rewarding experience for you:

Collaboration and Networking: Joining our board opens doors to collaborative opportunities and networking with other influential individuals who share a passion for making a positive impact. Strategic Impact: Your strategic insights will be instrumental in guiding our organization through its next phase of growth and development.

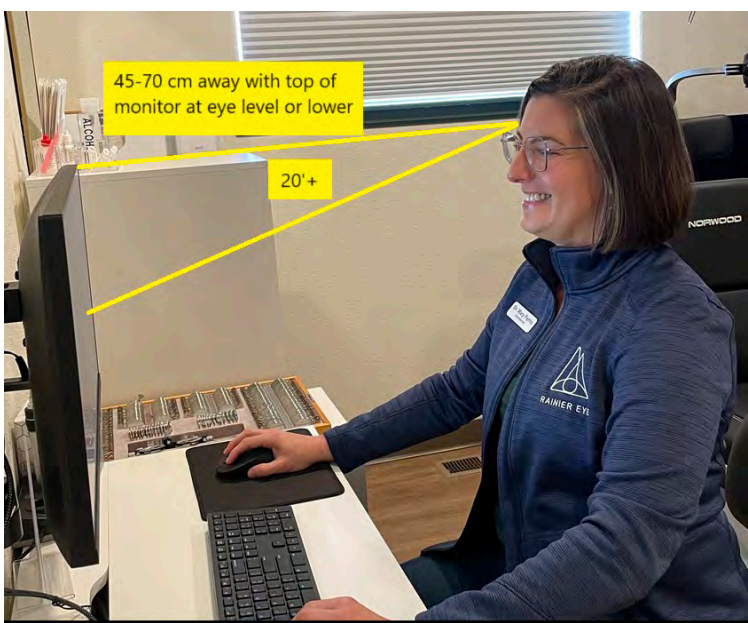

Personal Fulfillment: Being part of a nonprofit board is an enriching experience, offering the satisfaction of contributing to a cause that aligns with your values. You can find more information on our website; www.hhmo.org or contact the Health & Hope Executive Director, Diane Paulson at 360.918.4438. Volunteer opportunities are also available.

The LCTA Remembers Jack State

The LCTA and Chehalis community recently lost a beloved member. Legendary 6'8" Jack State. For five decades, Jack poured his heart and soul into the sport of

DON'T: Wear lenses that force you to lean in or tip your chin up to see clearly.

DO: Wear lenses that focus your screen without leaning in tennis, leaving an indelible mark on countless lives. As a coach, his wisdom, patience, and passion inspired generations of athletes to reach their full potential on and off the court. Jack wasn't just a tennis coach; he was a mentor, a friend, and a beacon of positivity. His infectious enthusiasm for the game was matched only by his unwavering commitment to nurturing the talents of those under his guidance. Jack was equally as excited about his players' tennis skills as he was about their academic achievements. Jack's legacy extends far beyond the tennis courts, it is woven into the fabric of our community through the countless friendships and memories he created. Over the last few years Jack was on a mission to support future generations of tennis enthusiasts by bringing an indoor tennis facility to our area.

He was a driving force on the Lewis County Tennis Association.

Over the past year Jack was actively engaged in contacting former tennis players and W.F. West alumni to spread the word and garner support for the project. As you can imagine, as a former basketball coach, and tennis coach of 50+ years, the list was quite extensive! Many of these people had kept in contact with Jack over the years. It is a testament to the man he was to know so many people still talked to him regularly and still remembered the impact he'd had on them as a coach. Anyone who had the privilege of knowing Jack was better for it and our organization certainly wouldn't be what it is without his tireless efforts. Having indoor tennis courts was Jack's dream and although he won't be here to see it, we are more determined than ever to see his dream become a reality. In honor of Jack, his family is asking for your support of the Lewis County Regional Tennis & Wrestling Facility. The LCTA would like to extend our deepest sympathy and gratitude to Jack's family. We are honored to have their support on this ambitious project. Direct donations can be made through the Chehalis Foundation <https://app.etapestry.com/onlineforms/TheChehalisFoundation/lcta-tennis-and-wrestling.html>

The Aerie Ballroom

Restored Event Venues and Hotel Rooms

Great venues become even greater when they offer the full range of options including unique event spaces, excellent hotel accommodations, fine dining, and proximity to parking and downtown activities. Neil White and his wife Jodi have purchased and rejuvenated several historic buildings within close proximity to each other in downtown Centralia.

These buildings offer a cluster of event sites that are unique, elegant, and affordable. The renovations are a stunning combination of refurbishing the spaces to their original era (1920s) while including modern conveniences – some of which are cleverly hidden in plain sight, such as the speaker system inside the Centralia Square ballroom. Even the hotel rooms have maintained much of the original features – such as push-button light switches and marble shower enclosures – while ensuring modern luxury accommodations.

The White's own three buildings. The Aerie Ballroom at 219 South Tower offers seven event spaces within the facility: A 2800 square foot ballroom that can accommodate 300 guests, a beautiful antique bar space, the Studio Room for smaller groups that includes a kitchenette, and two VIP suites that ensure privacy for wedding parties as they prepare for the ceremony.

Centralia Square – located a short block from The Aerie at 202 Centralia College Blvd just off South Pearl. Centralia Square also features a 2800 square foot grand ballroom with catering kitchen, a full stage, an orchestra balcony, and a wood dance floor. In addition to the ballroom, Centralia also has a basement level space called The Speakeasy that accommodates 250 people, an outdoor terrace that includes an indoor bar, and a more intimate venue appropriately called The Living Room with fireplace, bar, and room for smaller seating.

In addition, Centralia Square boasts two of Centralia's popular restaurants. Berry Field's Café for breakfast and daytime meals and at night fine dining at The Branch restaurant.
