Cascade Community Healthcare Named Business of The Year by Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce

By Sigourney Orstad

For the C/C Chamber of Commerce

The Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce held its annual banquet at the end of January and presented Cascade Community Healthcare with the Business of the Year award. The Business of the Year award is presented to a Chamber business who significantly contributes, improves, expands, or inspires the community. Cascade Community Healthcare has excelled in this endeavor, going above and beyond for Lewis County and surrounding areas.

Cascade Community Healthcare has been serving Lewis County since 1966, providing treatment for behavioral health issues and substance use disorder.

In 2020, Cascade Community Healthcare received the Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinic (CCBHC) grant, deeming it CCBHC certified by the federal government. Dr. Richard Stride Psy.D., MBA, President and CEO of Cascade Community Healthcare, described the significance of the CCBHC certification, “We were one of the early adopters in this program, so we got a head start. It will be the way that the federal government works with behavioral health agencies in the future.”

Another one of Cascade Community Healthcare’s accomplishments is its Joint Commission (JCO) accreditation. Cascade Community Healthcare received JCO accreditation for both its behavioral health and primary care programs. Cascade had to go through a highly scrutinized accreditation process to receive the JCO accreditation, which Dr. Stride describes as the “gold standard” for healthcare.

Through multiple programs, Cascade Community Healthcare offers services to both youth and adults. “We have our child and adolescent program, and also encompassed in that is our WISE program, which is Wrap-around Intensive Services for youth and their families,” explained Chief Clinical Officer Leann Reed, MA, LMFT, LMHC, CMHS.

Additionally, Cascade Community Healthcare offers treatment for substance use disorder (SUD), therapy and psychiatry services, case management, jail services, inpatient programs for behavioral health and has a mobile crisis team available for those in crisis.

Cascade Community Healthcare has been in the process of expanding their services for several years. A new emergency department for behavioral health is in the works, which will triage those in crisis and get them help sooner than a traditional ER.

In January, Cascade Community Healthcare opened a new primary care wing attached to its Reynolds Avenue location in Centralia. The new primary care wing allows Cascade Community Healthcare to integrate mental and physical health treatments. “The idea is to be an agency that meets the needs of the entire person, so they don’t have to go to different places. They can get their primary care here. They can get their psychiatric care. They can get their SUD [treatment] here ... So, you know, we’re trying to offer a one stop shop, if you will, for people,” said Dr. Stride.

Although Cascade has already accomplished so much, Dr Stride maintains that they’re not done finding new ways to serve the community. “I see us continue to expand and continue to meet the needs of Lewis county residents, whatever that may be. I’ve always said, if there’s a need out there and we can meet it, then we’re going to do that. If there’s a need out there and we can’t meet it, we’re gonna try to figure out a way to do it. So whatever the needs are of Lewis county citizens, that’s what we’re going to try to meet.”

Empowering businesses and communities through legislative action

By Peter Abbarno

20th District Rep. R-Centralia

As your state representative, I am committed to supporting solutions during this legislative session that help businesses thrive, families prosper, and communities grow.

I am honored to serve on the House Consumer Protection and Business Committee this year. This important role keeps me actively shaping and monitoring policies affecting our local business community.

Through this committee, I can advocate for business priorities in Centralia and across our region, ensuring the voices are heard and their needs are met in Olympia.

Our region is home to innovative businesses, hardworking employees, and a community dedicated to growth. However, sustaining economic success requires clear rules, supportive policies, and a commitment to fairness. That’s why I am proud to be working on and supporting several bills this session that reflect these principles and provide meaningful benefits to businesses and their employees alike.

Peter Abbarno

Among the bills I have sponsored this session is House Bill 1016, which provides tax incentives for businesses that hire veterans and support military families. Veterans bring a wealth of experience, dedication, and leadership to the workforce, and this bill encourages employers to prioritize hiring these exceptional individuals. Not only does this help businesses build strong teams, but it also supports veterans as they transition into civilian careers, addressing employment challenges they may face.

Peter Abbarno Receives Evergreen Award For Outstanding Community Service

Peter Abbarno received the Evergreen Award from the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber’s Annual Banquet on January 24th. Abbarno, who has spent more than a decade volunteering with numerous organizations throughout Lewis County, received the award because of his fervent commitment to public service.

Abbarno keeps a busy schedule as a partner at Althausen Rayan Abbarno and as a state representative for Washington’s 20th district, but that hasn’t slowed him down in his volunteer efforts. Abbarno estimates that he’s volunteered at over twenty different organizations throughout the past ten to fifteen years.

Abbarno has ‘played’ Santa Clause for the Forgotten Children’s Fund, helped organize the Lewis County Special Olympics Law Enforcement Torch Run and Polary Plunge, and his family helps pack and deliver food boxes for the Hub City Mission.

Not only has Abbarno volunteered his time for local organizations and events, he helped start events such as the Thanksgiving Day Turkey Trot that raises money for the Boys & Girls club of Lewis County and Chehalis Foundation. Abbarno and his wife, Holly, also started the “Stuff the Bus” back to school supply drive for the Centralia School District.

While the volume of volunteer work that Abbarno does may seem hard to balance with his other responsibilities, he makes volunteering a priority, just like the other commitments he has in his life. “I try to build volunteering into my life, into my regular schedule. I try not to look at volunteering as something I do in addition to my other responsibilities, but volunteering is just part of what my family and I do. Period,” said Abbarno.

Through all of his volunteer work, Abbarno’s efforts with the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce has been one of his longest-standing commitments. “One of my first Business After Hours was at the Chronicle when my daughter was less than two-months old. And I’ve been involved [with the Chamber] as a small business owner myself. Small businesses are an integral part to our economy and our way of life in a small town and small county ... so I’ve always been a supporter of the Chamber’s efforts to help make small businesses and small business owners successful.” said Abbarno.

Although he will stay busy as an attorney and state representative, Abbarno will certainly continue pursuing his passions for volunteering and his community in 2025.

Amanda Curry Named Ambassador of the Year at Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce’s Annual Banquet

By Sigourney Orstad

Amanda Curry was named Ambassador of the Year by the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce at its annual banquet in January. The Ambassador of the Year award is presented to an ambassador who shows outstanding commitment in volunteering their time, skills and resources to assist the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce in its endeavors.

Curry, born and raised in Centralia, has always been passionate about her hometown. Curry grew up being involved in the community from a young age, with her parents owning a custom drapery shop on Pearl Street in Centralia.

When Curry was twenty-one years old, she got a job working at The Chronicle in the customer service department, creating classified ads, legal notices and obituaries. Curry worked at The Chronicle for the next seventeen years before leaving in 2018 to pursue other opportunities. After working at Big T BBQ for a couple of years, Curry landed a job at Sticklin Funeral Chapel as an Office Manager, a position she has been in for the past three years.

When Curry started working at Sticklin in 2021, she helped them renew their membership with the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce and decided to further get involved with the Chamber by becoming an Ambassador.

Since being an ambassador for the Chamber, Curry has volunteered at multiple Chamber events including the golf tournament, Business After Hours and ribbon cuttings. Curry’s passion for being an ambassador stems from a love of her hometown and being involved in the community. “I love people. I love being out in the community. I love to volunteer. I love to help out. I love to help make light work. This is my hometown, so I like it. I know a lot of people, and so it makes it fun,” said Curry.

As for what the next year holds, Curry is looking forward to continuing to be an ambassador for the Chamber, doing volunteer work and continuing to work at Sticklin Funeral Chapel, a place she calls “the best of the best.”

Sundays at 2:00pm
Artist's Benefit Pay-What-You-Can
Thursday, January 30 at 7:30pm Jack Chesney loves Kitty Verdun and Charley loves Miss Amy Spettigue. They invite the ladies to meet Charley's wealthy aunt from Brazil, "where the nuts come from." Cancelling her visit at the last minute, the millionaire aunt sends the boys into cataclysmic confusion. What do they do now?
The problem is solved by drafting their feckless Oxford undergrad pal into a black satin skirt, bloomers, and wig. As "Charley's Aunt," this charming frump is introduced to the ladies, to Jack's father, and to Stephen Spettigue, Amy's guardian. When the real aunt turns up, classic comic confusion ensues as Fancourt Babberley, posing as "Charley's Aunt," tricks Spettigue into agreeing to the marriage of his ward. The real aunt marries Jack's father, Jack gets Miss Verdun, and Fanny Babs regains the fortune he lost at gambling as well as the girl he loves.

Additionally, I introduced House Bill 1055, which aims to improve government transparency by enhancing access to public records.
This bill, which has gained bi-partisan support, would establish a Joint Legislative Committee on Transparency to study the feasibility of an independent body for processing public records.
Streamlining public records access benefits businesses by reducing administrative hurdles and saving government resources by improving efficiency and accountability. With a focus on fiscal responsibility, HB 1055 demonstrates how clear, practical solutions can reduce waste and improve outcomes for taxpayers.

House Bill 1063, is a bipartisan approach I support, because it focuses on creating a regulatory framework for earned wage access services.
These services allow employees to access their earned but unpaid wages before their regular pay period, offering financial flexibility in times of need.

This bill provides guidelines for businesses that foster innovation in financial services while protecting consumers. By offering earned wage access, companies can enhance employee satisfaction and retention—essential in today's competitive job market—while contributing to a more dynamic and supportive work environment.
I encourage you to stay involved as we work on these and other bills. The legislative process is most effective when it reflects the voices of the people it serves. Your engagement matters whether you are a small business owner, an employee, or a concerned citizen.

Testify on bills that impact your community and share your perspectives with your elected officials. Your input is invaluable, helping to shape legislation that meets the needs of our community businesses.
I remain committed to advocating for policies that create opportunities for businesses to thrive and for every resident to succeed.

Thank you for the honor of serving as your state representative. Together, we can ensure that our district and Washington state remain places where businesses prosper, workers achieve their potential, and communities grow stronger.
