Kresky Auto Repair & Electrical: A Legacy of Service and Skill

By Cynthia Mudge

Chamber Executive Director

Kresky Auto Repair & Electrical is one of the region's longstanding businesses, maintaining a consistent presence in the community for nearly sixty years. Originally established as Chehalis Auto & Electric in the 1950s, the shop was purchased by Leon Bowman in 1968. Bowman operated the business for decades, eventually relocating it to Centralia in the 1980s. With that move came a new name—Kresky's Auto Repair & Electrical—reflecting a new chapter while preserving its strong foundation.

Following Bowman's passing in 2023, longtime employee Jim Westley purchased the business, continuing its legacy. Westley's history with Kresky's runs deep. He began working there in high school, starting with basic tasks like sweeping floors and cleaning. Although he did not attend trade school, Westley demonstrated a natural aptitude for automotive work. To stay current in an ever-evolving industry, he pursued after-hours training and ultimately earned his ASE (Automotive Service Excellence) certification.

Over the course of 35 years,

Jim Westley, owner

Westley grew alongside the business, mentored by Bowman and shaped by decades of change in the automotive field. During that time, the shop transitioned from paper records to digital systems, and from purely mechanical repairs to increasingly complex, computer-driven diagnostics. As vehicles evolved—from traditional gas engines to hybrids and electric models—so did the skills required to service them.

Today, Kresky's remains a well-established and trusted repair shop, servicing a wide range of vehicles. The team is particularly known for its expertise with older models from the 1980s and beyond. While the fundamentals of how a car operates remain consistent, modern technology has added layers of complexity to repairs. "The computer technology often buries the mechanics," Westley explained. "We often have to work around components just to reach something as simple as a bolt."

Vehicle features have also evolved significantly over time. Options that were once considered luxury add-ons—such as cruise control—are now standard in most vehicles. Others, like rearview cameras, were virtually nonexistent prior to the 1990s, aside from early concept designs such as the 1956 Buick Centurion. Today, they are federally mandated safety features, required in all new vehicles since 1968. Modern drivers now expect conveniences like air conditioning, sunroofs, heated seats, and keyless entry as standard.

Kresky's commitment to quality has earned industry recognition over the years.

The shop became the first AAA Approved Auto Repair facility between Longview and Olympia in 1982. More recently, it was named a AAA Top Shop every year the honor was awarded from 2007 through 2018. The program was on hold until 2025, and Kresky Auto Repair learned they are also Receiving the 2025 award. The business employs a team of six.

Kresky Auto Repair & Electrical provides service for most automobiles, light trucks, and motorhomes. Their offerings include major engine and transmission repair, as well as clutch, differential, and exhaust work, Manufactures Recommend Service Intervals.. They also handle a full range of maintenance services, including air conditioning, brakes, heating and cooling systems, electrical work, and general vehicle care.

In addition to its longevity as a business, Kresky's has been a dedicated member of the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce since 1968, maintaining a strong connection to the local community for decades.

80 Years of Service: A Personal Reflection on Althausen Rayan Abbarno

By Rep. Peter Abbarno

20th Legislative District

When I walk into our office each morning in downtown Centralia, I am reminded that I am not just going to work—I am stepping into a legacy that began in 1946. That was the year Dale Nordquist and D.D. Schnatterly opened their law practice in historic downtown Centralia, building what would become one of the longest-standing law firms in Southwest Washington. What started as Nordquist & Schnatterly has, over generations of dedicated attorneys, grown into Althausen Rayan Abbarno.

That history is not just something we celebrate—it is something we carry forward every day.

Over eight decades, the firm evolved as new partners joined and leadership transitioned. Each name change reflected both continuity and growth. From Nordquist & Schnatterly to later formations that included attorneys like Ralph Olson, Charles Althausen, James Lawler, Wade Samuelson, and eventually to Althausen Rayan Abbarno, the firm steadily expanded its reach and reputation. With the addition of new partners and attorneys—including Todd Rayan, Peter Abbarno, Jakob McGhie, and Kathryn Eyraud—the firm continued to modernize while staying true to its founding principles.

Today, as Althausen Rayan Abbarno, we are proud to represent the next chapter in that long line of service. But what makes me most proud is not just our longevity—it is our deep and lasting commitment to this community.

For nearly 80 years, this firm has been rooted in Lewis County and Southwest Washington. We don't just serve clients here—we live here, raise our families here, and invest our time and energy into making this a better place for everyone. That belief—that a law firm should be part of the fabric of its community—has guided generations of our attorneys.

You can see that commitment in the causes we support and the events we help make possible.

Every Thanksgiving morning, we lace up our running shoes and join hundreds of community members for the Turkey Trot. It's more than a race—it's a tradition that brings people together in support of the Chehalis Foundation and the Boys & Girls Club of Lewis County. We are proud to partner with Thorbeckes to present this event that truly reflects the spirit of giving that defines this community and our role within it.

We are also proud supporters of Special Olympics, where we've had the privilege of cheering on incredible athletes who remind us what determination and joy truly look like. Our partners are honored to help plan and sponsor the annual polar plunge at Mayfield Lake and Torch Run from Napavine through Centralia.

We support the Miss Lewis County Scholarship Program, which invests in the future of young women in our community by helping them pursue higher education and leadership opportunities.

Our commitment extends to youth sports and community activities as well. Whether it's supporting Twin City Union F.C., sponsoring local runs, or helping organize back-to-school supply drives, we believe in showing up for our community—not just in moments of need, but in moments of growth, celebration, and opportunity.

Because at its core, being a lawyer—at least the way we see it—is about more than legal representation. It is about service.

Every day, we have the opportunity to help

Les Schwab Tire Center – Four Decades of Service

By Cynthia Mudge

Chamber Executive Director

Les Schwab Tire Center is a well-established name for those living on the West Coast. The company is known for its efficient service, friendly staff, and, of course, the signature popcorn that greets customers as they walk through the door.

Founder Les Schwab passed away in 2007, and the company is now owned by a larger corporation. However, the vision that made the company stand out remains the same: give people more for their money and earn their trust. Schwab built the company from the ground up, opening the first store in 1952 in Prineville, Oregon. He believed in rewarding employees and giving them opportunities to grow and succeed. That commitment is still evident in local Les Schwab stores today. The company now operates more than 540 locations and continues to expand its footprint into the Midwest, with an ambitious goal of opening around thirty new stores each year.

The Chehalis Les Schwab store opened in 1980 and became a member of the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce in 1981. The business is recognized as one of the Chamber’s Legacy Members, honoring more than four decades of commitment to both the Chamber and the local community.

Originally located at 36 N. Market Boulevard, the Chehalis store moved in January 2020 to its current location at 1980 NW Louisiana Avenue. The move allowed the business to better serve customers and gain greater visibility to freeway traffic. The familiar Les Schwab logo is often a welcome sight for travelers and residents alike who need immediate tire service or other urgent vehicle care. In addition to tires, the store provides brake service, alignments, batteries, shocks, struts, and commercial vehicle services.

Chehalis Store Manager Tony Lyon is a strong example of the commitment and longevity Les Schwab is known for. He began his career with the company in 1996 and has managed the Chehalis store since 2016.

“We appreciate the loyalty of our customers,” Lyon said. His staff reflects the founder’s vision, with employee contributions valued as a cornerstone of the company’s success. The Chehalis store currently employs 27 people, many of whom have been with the company for more than twenty years.

In keeping with the founder’s philosophy, the Chehalis Les Schwab store remains actively involved in the community. The business supports school athletics and participates in the annual youth livestock auction at the Southwest Washington Fairgrounds. One of their most popular fundraising partnerships involves donating popcorn and bags for concession sales at local athletic events. Anyone who has visited a Les Schwab store recognizes the familiar aroma of popcorn that welcomes customers into the lobby.

Opened in 1995, Lucky Eagle Casino & Hotel is owned and operated by the Confederated Tribes of the Chehalis Reservation. The organization is committed to responsible gaming and takes pride in supporting its employees and surrounding communities. The Chehalis Tribe continues to honor its rich cultural heritage while advancing opportunities in business, education, healthcare, and community outreach.

Rodney Youckton, Chief Community Relations Officer for Lucky Eagle Casino & Hotel and Centralia-Chehalis Chamber board member, along with Shawna Ridgebear, Marketing Director, will be on hand to welcome guests at the April Business After Hours (BAH). Celebrating its 31st anniversary in 2026, the casino remains deeply engaged in regional partnerships.

“We believe in one heart, one mind,” said Youckton, a long-time supporter of the Centralia-Chehalis Chamber. Lucky Eagle supports a total of thirteen Chambers and contributes to numerous local organizations in those communities. Among organizations in Lewis County, Lucky Eagle supports Pope’s Place, Madison Grove Farm, and the Veterans Memorial Museum, among other causes.

The Centralia-Chehalis Chamber of Commerce invites the community to its April Business After Hours, hosted by Lucky Eagle Casino & Hotel on Thursday, April 16, from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m.

The event will take place at Lucky Eagle Casino & Hotel, located at 12888 188th Avenue SW in Rochester, and offers a lively evening of networking, refreshments, and entertainment. Guests will enjoy appetizers, a photo booth, and a unique opportunity to participate in the Soaring Slot Tournament—an experience typically reserved for members on Monday nights.

Blue Skies Drones Can Do It All!

April brings unpredictable weather, fresh growth, and new opportunities—and drones help local businesses stay ahead of all three. From documenting spring flooding and storm damage to capturing mountain, recreation, and tourism imagery, drones deliver fast, actionable data and powerful marketing content. Roof inspections, construction progress tracking, and property surveys that once took days now take hours—without ladders or unnecessary risk. That means lower costs, safer crews, and better visuals that win customers. Drones are not a luxury anymore; they're a competitive advantage. Invest in your own drone program or hire professional drone services and put this technology to work for your business.

Business and Community Leaders Invited to Revitalization Roundtable

The Centralia Downtown Association, in partnership with the Economic Alliance of Lewis County, is inviting local business owners, property owners, developers, elected officials, and community stakeholders to attend a Revitalization Roundtable on March 30 at 6:00 PM.

The evening will begin with a brief tour of the Centralia Square Grand Ballroom, followed by an open roundtable discussion focused on the future of downtown and the role our local leadership can play in shaping it.

This gathering is designed to bring together those who are actively invested in Centralia's growth to have a candid, solution-focused conversation about what's working, where challenges exist, and what opportunities lie ahead. While the discussion will center on business and development perspectives, community members who care about the future of Centralia are also welcome to attend.

This is not a formal presentation—it's a collaborative conversation where ideas, insight, and shared vision can help guide the next chapter of downtown revitalization. Please RSVP in advance so we can plan accordingly.

RSVP here: <https://forms.gle/dBwMmi6nqec3XjHS6>
Join us at the table and be part of shaping the future of Centralia.

Spring Savings at the Centralia Outlets

Spring is the perfect time to refresh your wardrobe with lighter colors and fresh styles. Think crisp whites, soft creams, and cheerful pastels that bring the season to life. At the Centralia Outlets, you'll find dresses, blouses, pants, and accessories that make it easy to update your look for warmer days ahead.

Families can shop for a wide selection of clothing for kids of all ages. The Children's Place and Gap Factory offer outfits for boys and girls in sizes 0-16, while Polo Ralph Lauren carries sizes 0-20 for boys and 0-16 for girls.

Adults will also find great options at Lane Bryant, Chico's, and DXL Men's Outlet.

Spring also marks the start of the sports season. At New Balance, Nike, Skechers, and Famous Footwear, shoppers can find athletic apparel and shoes for every activity.

As brands prepare for summer arrivals, shoppers can also discover savings on spring styles and final winter clearance—perfect for the unpredictable Pacific Northwest weather.

Follow Centralia Outlets on Facebook and Instagram for updates on new arrivals and promotions.

ABBARNO: From Page 1 people through some of the most difficult moments of their lives—whether that’s recovering from an injury, navigating a family matter, building a new business, or planning for the future. That responsibility is something we take seriously. It is also something that connects us directly back to the mission of our founders in 1946.

They built a firm grounded in trust, integrity, and community. Eighty years later, those values remain unchanged.

Of course, much has changed in the legal profession since 1946. The law has grown more complex. Technology has transformed how we practice. The needs of clients have evolved. And yet, through all of that change, one thing has remained constant: people still need advocates they can trust.

That is what we strive to be.

As we celebrate 80 years of service, I find myself reflecting not just on where we have been, but on where we are going. The strength of this firm has always come from its people—past and present—and from the community that has supported us along the way.

We are proud of our history. We are grateful for the generations of clients who have placed their trust in us. And we are committed to continuing that tradition for generations to come.

From Nordquist and Schnatterly in 1946 to Althausen Rayan Abbarno today, this has always been more than a law firm.

It has been—and will continue to be—a part of this community’s story.
